RED CROSS JOINS FORCES WITH R. DIGEST

In its continuing effort on behalf of American Prisoners of War, the American Red Cross, have joined forces with the Readers Digest in what will probably be the biggest single public protest over North Vietnam's failure to comply with the Geneva convention.

For the past eighteen months the American Red Cross has been urging Americans to write letters direct to the North Vietnamese president asking that U.S. servicemen held in prison camps be afforded the humane treatment called for in the Geneva Prisoners of War Convention, an international agreement to which North Vietnam is a signatory.

According to Raymond Fitts, Chairman of the Denton County Chapter, American Red Cross, the 17,500,000 monthly purchasers of the Readers Digest, the nation's largest circulating magazine, are being asked to clip and sign a protest letter from the publication's April issue. These messages which are addressed to North Vietnam's president, Ton Duc Thang, are to be sent to the American National Red Cross at Washington, D.C. where they will be tabulated and then forwarded to Hanoi.

The printed message on the coupon urges President Ton to display proof of his sincerity by immediately repatriating all sick and wounded prisoners and by releasing or transferring to a neutral nation all those whose health has been jeopardized by long confinement. Preceding the message in the April issue is a documented five page article depicting the life of an American Prisoner of War in Vietnam.

Additional copies of the coupon are available through the local Red Cross Chapter.

FEEDLOT PROVIDING FED CATTLE

LIVESTOCK MARKETING CHANGES - Auction and terminal markets are still the major sources of slaughter calves for packers, but the feedlot is providing most of their fed cattle in the West and Southwest, notes Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist. He adds that a recent USDA report showed that California and Texas alone accounted for more than a third of the cattle fed by packers.
